Alexander Charles WILLIAMS, Russian, born on June 5, 1899 at Tiflis, Caucasus, Russia. He is reported to have attended a military school for officers during the Great War and later to have served in the ranks of one of the "White" armies. Following the conclusion of the civil war in Russia he made his way to Poland where he resided until about eight years ago, after which he came to the Far East to join his mother and younger brother.

In Shanghai he was employed in the Radio Service Department of the American Engineering Corporation, 609 Sub-A, Siping Well Road, from 1934 to 1936. Some time in 1937 he established his own business known as Williams' Radio Engineering Co., 601 Siping Well Road, which he is still conducting. He resides at the same address. His brother, Boris Charles Williams, 30 is reported to have graduated from the Harbin Polytechnic Institute (Electrical Engineering Department) and to have been employed for a short period with the Shan Hai Telephone Co., and from 28-10-36 to 31-5-37 - with the Shanghai Rover Co. It appears that at present he assists his brother in business.

their parents were divorced many years ago, following which their mother (maiden name M. I. Jochenko) married on U.S. Kluge, an officer of the Russian army. General Kluge, who at one time was Ataman Semenov's Chief of Staff, later served as an advisor to the late Marshal Chang Tso Ling and from 1922 to 1932 resided at Mukden where, inter alia he was engaged in journalistic activities. In December, 1937 he disappeared under mysterious
